Art Unit: 2876

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration filed September 2, 2004 has been considered.

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 2-3 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vajk et al. 5,265,033.

Vajk discloses an ATM/POS based electronic mail system that allows an existing ATM/POS terminal to be accessed by a customer with an appropriate card. This customer may access an electronic mail system (col 4 lines 64 – col 5 line 43). That is the existing machine operates in different modes, namely the ATM/POS mode and the Email mode, dependent upon the insertion of an appropriate card. Vajk does not specifically disclose the visually encoded information. However, visually encoded information on cards is old and well known, such as bar codes, alphanumeric codes, dot codes, among others. These codes are inherently optically read and converted into an electronic signal that is usable by the machine. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use visually encoded information on the card of Vajk in order to allow for more specific security and to increase the versatility of the system to include multiple formats of existing cards.

4. Claim 4 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record fails to teach or fairly suggest to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention, along with all the other limitations of independent claim 2, displaying by a book reader a portion of a book, the contents of this portion of a book held on a card.

6. Applicant's arguments filed September 2, 2004 regarding claims 2 and 3 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Vajk does not disclose the card is encoded in a manner that determines the operation mode of the device. The examiner respectfully disagrees. The applicant has not specifically claimed what the specific "operation mode" is. The examiner has therefore broadly interpreted "operation mode" as the mode in which the reader is actively operating in response to a standard card being present within the reader. Applicant also argues that the visual representation and camera are not disclosed by Vajk. The Examiner presents Pierce et al. 4,734,565 in support of the previous holding of Official Notice. Pierce discloses a CCD (camera) for reading an optical (visual) code held on a card.

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL: Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
